Butter Climbs to 94 Cents; Milk Up Cent Tuesday

BOOST URGED TO KEEP CITY'S SUPPLIES UP

Dr. Wild Cites Higher Market Elsewhere, Says Mansfield Must Compete.

Butter was selling as high as 94 cents a pound in Mansfield today as city residents learned they'll begin paying a cent more, or 18 cents a quart, for milk tomorrow.

Retailers said butter had gone up because of the higher price the dairyman's receiving for butterfat. The retail price of butter in the city ranged from 85 to 94 cents, stores reported.

The milk price increase is the third since May when milk sold for 14 cents a quart. The latest boost, dairymen said, will hike the price of whole milk 45 cents to $4.85 a 100 pounds.

Wholesalers here said they had to pay a higher price for milk to compete with the Cleveland market where milk is $5 per hundred.

Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, said he recommended the increase as "the only way to keep producers from selling their milk to the higher Cleveland market."

* * *

Keeps Quality Up.

"We require that milk distributed here must have a four per cent butterfat content," the commissioner said. "Cleveland requires less. So, even with the one cent increase locally, people here will be getting better milk than Cleveland and still paying less than they do in Cleveland."

Wild said he had been approached by local processors when producers began dealing with out-of-town markets. Sam Young, county milk inspector, said that some of the county's milk suppliers have stopped the sale of milk to the county this year altogether and that they were putting it on the Cleveland market.

Milk was hiked to 14 cents in May during the peak production. In June it increased one cent to pay farmers for additional feed costs. About the middle of July milk took another jump to 17 cents per quart when dairy products were de-controlled by OPA.

"This increase does not mean a thing to the processor," a dairyman said. "In fact, it means a cut in profits. All the difference goes to the producer in order to keep a sufficient milk supply in this area."

FIND BODIES

Police Call Student Deaths Murder, Suicide.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Two Ohio State university students were found shot to death today and police described it as a murder and suicide involving a love affair.

The dead were Alice Krone Patterson, 20, of Columbus, and Thomas Thone, 20, of Eau Claire, Wisc.

The bodies were found in the front yard of a residence next door to the house in which Miss Patterson had a room. Police said a .22 caliber pistol was used.

3,800 Legion Delegates Meet

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Thirty-eight hundred delegates to the 28th national convention of the American Legion assembled for the opening session today as opposition to "traditional" Legion policies developed among labor groups and World War II veterans.

Representing 3,300 ex-servicemen and women of two wars, the delegates will hear a distinguished list of speakers, including representatives of the army, navy and air forces, a governor and a high British army officer.

ILLINOIS BAND WINS

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— The band of Harwood Post No. 5 of Joliet, Ill., composed of 56 veterans of the recent war and one of World War I, yesterday was declared national champion of the Legion, winning over five competitors in the organization's first postwar contest.

NEW MARITIME WALKOUT SET FOR MIDNIGHT

(By United Press)

The federal government sought to break Pittsburgh's deadlocked power strike today, and announced that the threat of another nationwide shipping tie-up at midnight was mounting with the approach of the deadline.

Government conciliators reported that the prospects of a new maritime strike had reached a "critical stage." The new walkout would follow by less than a week final settlement of the earlier tie-up, worst in the nation's history.

Meanwhile, the government sent two conciliators to Pittsburgh to help mediate the walkout of 3,500 power workers now in its seventh day of apparently hopeless stalemate. The strike has forced many industrial and commercial establishments to close and has resulted in paralysis of Pittsburgh's public transportation.

Other labor developments:

1. At Columbus, O., operators of streetcars, trolley coaches and motor busses voted unanimously to strike at midnight, tying up all public conveyances.

2. A strike in the motion picture industry at Hollywood continued despite court orders prohibiting mass picketing of two studios.

3. Government conciliators hoped to avert a west coast dock workers' walkout at midnight, but CIO officials at Los Angeles issued a stop work order in advance of the deadline.

Knocks Down Mailboxes, Speeds Away

Four families, all of France street, were without mailboxes this morning, after an unidentified car left the road, knocked down the boxes, and sped on its way early today.

The incident was witnessed by Fred Stelts, 5 France street, who said that the driver didn't attempt to stop after he damage was done. Stelts reported the accident to Sheriff Frank E. Robinson at 3:35 a. m. today.

The boxes belonged to Clarence Fike, 3 France street, W. E. Stelts, and J. F. Pugh, both of 5 France street, and Jesse A. Clark, 7 France street.

Stelts told Sheriff Robinson that it looked as though the driver deliberately smashed into the boxes. Sheriff Robinson said he was investigating.

Extend Hours For Voter Registration

Richland county board of elections office in the courthouse will be open from 8 a. m. until 8 p. m., all this week, Harry Hawley, clerk, said today.

The extension of hours has been arranged for registration of voters for the fall election. Next Monday, the last day for registration, the office will remain open until 9 p. m. Registrations Saturday, soared to 90 for a half day.

KILLS PLAYMATE

CINCINNATI —(INS)— Shotgun wounds suffered accidentally at the hands of a playmate proved fatal today to 10-year-old Edward Alvin Platt of New Richmond who died in Cincinnati Children's hospital.

TWO LIVES WERE LOST amid the charred wreckage of this Vultee basic training plane yesterday noon when the ship plummeted out of a low ceiling into a pasture field on the John Criswell farm, Loudonville, R. D. 2. Killed were John Ross, 39, and Lester Rang, 40, both of Akron, and employes of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company. Ross, who was believed to have been piloting the plane, was returning to Akron from a dawn patrol flight to Urbana with the Portage Flying club. CAA officials were continuing an investigation of the tragedy today.

FROST LIKELY TO NIP TONIGHT

Threatens Damage to Late Garden Crops.

Late garden crops, particularly tomatoes, in the Mansfield and Richland county area, may suffer damage if the light frost, predicted by the weather man for tonight, materializes. The Ohio corn crop is believed too far along to sustain any set-back.

A drop in temperature, which followed yesterday's rainfall, cascaded the mercury to as low as 40 degrees in this area last night. The sudden chill after Saturday's summer weather, caused Mansfield residents to bring out extra blankets last night. Even the high of 66 degrees, recorded yesterday, was a decided drop from the 85 degrees of Saturday.

While Mansfield residents shivered in the chill weather, other parts of Ohio and mid-western states were also feeling the drop in temperatures. At Toledo, with a recorded low of 37 during the night, a light freeze was reported.

If frost predictions come true, this will be the first officially reported frost for the state, although there were rumors of a slight freeze previously. However, garden crops were little affected.

Columbus Faces Trolley Tieup

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Columbus faced a citywide tie-up of trolley and bus transportation today as operators voted to strike at midnight.

Approximately two-thirds of the city's residents would be left without transportation to work. Officials of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric company recently reported more than 300,000 paid fares daily.

2 OSR Inmates Plead Innocent In Slaying

Two Mansfield reformatory inmates, Lewis Murton, 19, and Howard Nichols, 20, pleaded innocent today to second-degree murder indictments involving the slaying of Janvere Bruck, 18, a fellow inmate, last July 18.

The two were arraigned with 18 other defendants before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in common pleas court. Murton and Nichols asked the court to name counsel for them. No dates have been set for their trials.

Eight of the 20 defendants before the court pleaded guilty, but Judge Kalbfleisch withheld sentence, explaining that a state law enacted last spring requires that a full report of the history of each criminal case be submitted to counsel and the probation department before the defendant can be sentenced.

Pleading guilty were Arthur Fraley, embezzlement; William C. Butler, grand larceny; Vernon C. Webb, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, William D. Richardson, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent; Robert C. Ray, grand larceny; John J. Friend, pocket picking, George B. Cook, pocket picking and Ralph T. Pickens, grand larceny.

MAKES PLEA

Pope Urges Italian Workers to Resist Communism.

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy—(INS)—Pope Pius XII called on the workers of Italy today to resist the penetration of communists into their ranks.

The Holy Father addressed 600 delegates to the Congress of Italian Christian Workers who held their convention in Castel Gandolfo, site of the Papal summer home.

The pontiff declared, "You must have courage in refusing adhesion and collaboration with those who despise God and have contempt for God."

State Makes Probe of Meat Business

BOSTON —(UP)— A statewide investigation of slaughter houses, meat storage units and freezing plants was begun today by public health department inspectors and state police to determine whether meat is being withheld from the market deliberately.

Gov. Maurice J. Tobin in an unprecedented move, ordered the action after an emergency meeting with state officials yesterday. He promised that any meat dealers suspected of conspiracy or restraint of trade would be prosecuted.

BACKS TURNPIKE

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. —(AP)— Extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike to the Ohio border from near Pittsburgh, and from Carlisle to Philadelphia in the east is recommended by the Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce in a resolution. The turnpike is a four-lane toll road extending nearly 200 miles through central Pennsylvania.

2 Men Die As Plane Crashes

Two Akron men were killed about noon yesterday when their basic training plane crashed and burned in a pasture field on the John Criswell farm, north of Loudonville.

The victims were:

John W. Ross, 39, president of the Portage Flying club of Akron, and auditor of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

Lester T. Rang, 40, widely known basketball and football referee and development engineer at the Firestone company for 17 years.

The Civil Aeronautics authority said today it would start an investigation of the fatal crash.

Ross, who was believed to have been piloting the plane when it crashed at 11:40 a. m., was reported to have been returning to Akron from the flying club's dawn patrol to Urbana.

Mansfield highway patrolmen said the two victims apparently ran into a "bad front" in the Loudonville area and heavy clouds forced them too close to the ground.

The one-wing, dual-control plane was owned by the Portage Flying club. Firestone officials were guarding the wreckage of the plane today pending an investigation by the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

FARMER SAW CRASH IN FIELD

Witness to the tragedy was Criswell, who estimated that he was 500 feet from the scene when the plane crashed.

"I was in the corn field when I heard a whizzing sound," Criswell said. "I looked up and saw the plane coming straight down. When

FINDS JEWEL THIEF GUILTY

Mrs. Durant, Former Captain, Faces 5 Years in Prison.

FRANKFURT, Germany—(UP)—Former WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant was convicted today by a military court of stealing $1,500,000 worth of Hesse family jewels, and was sentenced to five years imprisonment at hard labor, with dishonorable discharge.

Mrs. Durant's husband, Col. Jack Durant, and Maj. David Watson, are awaiting trial on complicity charges in the theft of the jewels from Kronberg castle.

Mrs. Durant displayed no emotion as the nine-officer court handed down its verdict of guilty on three counts of larceny, embezzlement and being absent without leave from her military post.

The 43-year-old defendant had been in charge of the Hesse family castle, used as an American army officers' club, last winter when the jewels disappeared. The Durants were married on their return to the United States from Germany.

Mrs. Durant's attorney pleaded that she was being made the "scapegoat" for all the looting done by American soldiers in occupied Germany.

Tribunal Calls War Initiation Supreme Crime

International Court Brands German Leaders 'Conspirators'; Prepares To Announce Final Verdict, Reveal Penalties Tomorrow.

NUERNBERG — (AP) — The international military tribunal declared today the initiation of war "is the supreme crime," and indicated strongly that 22 Nazi ringleaders it has tried on war crimes charges over the last 10 months would be convicted—as charged—of conspiring to commit that crime.

Final verdicts and sentences will be delivered tomorrow, when the tribunal concludes the reading of its 100,000-word judgment on the evidence presented by prosecutors for Britain, France, Russia and the United States since the trial began on Nov. 20, 1945.

The tribunal described as "quite overwhelming" the evidence adduced on the four main counts in the indictment, and while naming no names in the early stages, ruled that aggressive war is a crime, that conspiracies existed to wage aggressive war, and that war crimes and crimes against humanity had been committed.

It acquitted the German general staff and high command, the S. A. (brownshirts) and the Reich cabinet of charges that they were criminal organizations, but "certain groups" of the leaderships, the SS (Elite Guard), the SD (a department which operated a spy system) and the gestapo were convicted on that charge.

Before the reading of the judgment was an hour and a half under way, Hermann Goering, once the No. 2 Nazi, virtually conceded he was on the way to the gallows by telling defense lawyers: "I did not expect that they would go through all this to kill us."

Most of the defendants appeared reconciled to the belief they would be condemned to death.

* * *

Rejects Excuse.

The tribunal rejected flatly the plea of some of the defendants that their acts had been committed under orders from Adolf Hitler.

"Hitler could not make aggressive war by himself; he had to have the cooperation of German military leaders, diplomats, and business," the judgment said. "With the knowledge of his aims, they gave their cooperation and made themselves party to the plan he had initiated. That they were assigned to their tasks by a dictator does not absolve them from their responsibility for their acts."

Hermann Goering and his 20 colleagues (Martin Bormann was tried in Absentia) sat grim and silent as the court unfolded the long opinion.

All the defendants leaned forward listening intently, except Rudolf Hess, who sat without earphones and appeared to be writing something.

Of the court counts in the indictment only the first—that of having conspired in a common

JAIL MOTHER

Woman Drowns Two Children in Tub, Say Officials.

CLEVELAND, Tex. —(AP)— A 30-year-old mother was charged with murder in connection with the drownings of her two children but, county officials said, she seemed unaware of the tragedy.

Mrs. A. H. Brent, wife of a Shell Oil company employe now in Maracabo, Venezuela, was charged yesterday with two counts of murder after the children, Linda, 3, and James, 18-months old, were found submerged in a bathtub.

At the jail, county officials reported Mrs. Brent to be hysterical and seemingly unaware of the tragedy.

PRISONER ESCAPES

CHILLICOTHE — (INS) — One escaped Chillicothe federal reformatory inmate remained at large today following an attempted mass break Saturday evening in which guards wounded two other prisoners.

Homer L. Bach, 23, of Jeff, Ky., serving a post office robbery prison term, escaped across a barbed wire fence and into Scioto river-bottom cornfields where he eluded guards.

TAKE BIDS TODAY ON LAKE PROJECT

City Officials Set to Open Clear Fork Offers.

Bids for the construction of the dam for Mansfield's $800,000 Clear Fork reservoir were to be received today by Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow.

Construction of the dam is to start 15 days after a contract is let, according to requirements set up by the city. In addition, under the requirements, it is to be completed 270 days after construction starts.

Director Enlow said today that he is unable to estimate how many firms will bid on the dam construction. Bids are usually received shortly before opening time, which is noon today.

He said, however, that 12 sets of plans and specifications have been requested by contractors and sub-contractors.

The dam is to be located southwest of the city on part of the 2,100 acres proposed for the reservoir, designed to boost the city's water supply some three billion gallons a year.

DEADLINE NEAR

Hundreds Jam Auto Club to Get '47 Licenses.

Hundreds of persons jammed the offices of the Richland Auto club, with a waiting line stretching for half a block, as last minute applicants today sought to beat the midnight deadline on 1946 drivers' and chauffeurs' licenses.

Looking over the huge crowd, Deputy Registrar Jack Berger said, "Because of the number of applications already handled this year we thought there wouldn't be much of a last minute rush, but obviously we were mistaken."

Although 1947 drivers' permits should be in the possession of all drivers by midnight tonight, licenses may be renewed up to April 1, 1947, without taking a driver's test, provided that the applicant holds a 1946 license, Berger said.

Mufti Heads New Shadow Regime

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Highly placed Arab sources said today an Arab "showdown government" for Palestine had been organized this weekend at Alexandria, the asylum of the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem.

These informants said the shadow regime would in effect have the Mufti, Haj Amin El Husseini, as "President of the Republic" and his cousin, Jamal Bey Husseini, deputy chairman of the Arab executive, as "Premier and Secretary of Foreign Affairs".

Meanwhile, police reported that constables and navy personnel had discovered an attempt yesterday to dynamite British destroyers at the refuelling docks at Haifa.

Navy Backs U. S. Mediterranean Policies

No Withdrawal Planned, Bluntly Announces Forrestal

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Forrestal declared today that United States naval forces are in the Mediterranean to help carry out American foreign policy.

And they will be there for some time to come, the cabinet officer made plain in an unusual policy statement.

Simultaneously, it was learned that when the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt is withdrawn from the troubled sea it will be replaced promptly by another flat top. Previous emphasis on the FDR's Mediterranean cruise has been on the "good will" theme.

Forrestal's policy declaration was released as the American government (1) indicated full backing to Turkey in that country's resistance to Russian demands on the Dardanelles, (2) studied means to aid the present Greek government in its troubles with Russian-supported neighbors and (3) hoped uncertainly for a peaceful settlement with Yugoslavia over the disposition of Trieste.

Persons familiar with the reasons behind the statement said it was drafted about a week ago and hence was not inspired by the fresh Dardanelles conflict or other current controversies.

However, it gave the American people and foreign governments one of the simplest statements of the reasons and purposes underlying the presence of American warships in the Mediterranean to be made since the end of the war.

"Today," Forrestal said, "the United States navy is continuing to maintain forces in the eastern Atlantic and the Mediterranean sea for the following specific purposes:

"First, to support the Allied occupation forces and the Allied military government in the discharge of their responsibilities in the occupied areas of Europe.

"Second, to protect U. S. interests and to support U. S. policies in the area."

In the last year or so official comments on the presence of American warships in the Mediterranean have been generally confined either to explaining specific missions in terms of good will trips or errands of mercy, or showing that naval operations were helping the United States carry out its occupation problems.

500 HEAR TALK BY LECTURER

Christian Science Speaker Tells of Awakening.

An irresistible urge for spiritual enlightenment is sweeping the war-shocked world, B. Palmer Lewis, C S B, of New York City, said yesterday afternoon in a Christian Science lecture in John Simpson auditorium

Speaking before nearly 500 persons, Lewis opened his lecture with the following words of Christ as given in the eleventh chapter of Matthew "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me, for I am meek and lowly in heart and ye shall find rest unto your souls For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

"How welcome is that promise to mankind in these times, for today in a disordered, war-shocked world there is sweeping over humanity an irresistible urge for spiritual enlightenment," Lewis said

"It is only stating a fact," he said, "to say that there are thousands of people in the world today prepared to testify that this yearning to know God and experience His protective care has been gained through the study and practice of Christian Science, as given to the world by its Discoverer and Founder, Mary Baker Eddy, in her textbook, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures.'

"Through its teachings, the promises of Jesus are made as available today as they were at the beginning of the Christian era"

"Christian Science is the science of salvation It teaches divine law It interprets God to man and sets forth divine rules for the demonstration of universal harmony" Lewis said

"Christian Science does not ask one to believe blindly," Lewis pointed out "One might believe in the multiplication table, but unless he understood it, it could be of no real assistance to him Christian Science asks that you seek, study, and learn of God, strive to understand Christian Science, then, through its teaching and by your practice you may prove the mission of Christ Jesus was not in vain"

Little World Series Tied At One-All

LOUISVILLE, Ky —(INS)— The little world series between the Montreal Royals of the International league and the Louisville Colonels of the American association stands at one-all today.

Harry Dorish of the Colonels squared the series for his team yesterday when he pitched two-hit ball in turning in a neat 3 to 0 shutout over the Royals

The game was delayed 20 minutes while the Minor league commission debated over permitting the Colonels' catcher, Fred Walters to play because of his argument with an umpire in the first game of the series Saturday night

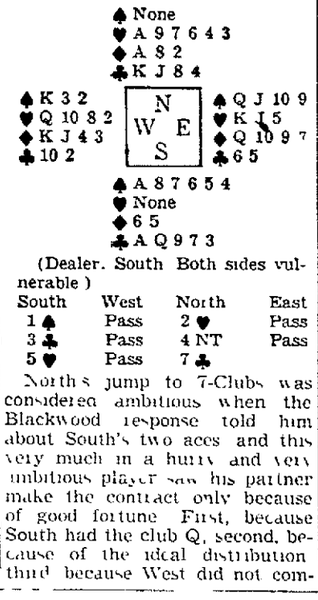
Barclay On Bridge

Among all the different kinds of distributions possible in the cards of a partnership the nearest to perfect—to produce maximum tricks in proportion to the honor strength held — is that which is featured by just one trump suit The more of a misfit the other suits are the better usually In its most extreme form, outside of a finely-fitting trump suit, there is a side suit of one partner with a blank opposite it, and another side suit in the other hand opposite a similar void.



(Dealer. South Both sides vulnerable)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	7 ♣

North's jump to 7-Clubs was considered ambitious when the Blackwood response told him about South's two aces and this very much in a hurry and very ambitious player saw his partner make the contract only because of good fortune First, because South had the club Q, second, because of the ideal distribution third because West did not complicate his job by leading a trump, and fourth, because the trumps out were split 2-2.

After the diamond 3 lead South was equal to his simple task, despite the fact that out against him were three kings three queens, three jacks and four tens

The diamond A won the lead, the heart A brought a diamond discard the diamond 2 was ruffed, the spade A scored, the spade 4 was ruffed the diamond 8 was ruffed so were the spade 5 heart 3 and spade 6 Now South's last two spades were set up He then overtook the club K with the A laid down the club Q and finished by cashing the spade 8 and 7.

SUNOCO DYNAFUEL

Test Dynafuel in your car—see if it doesn't give

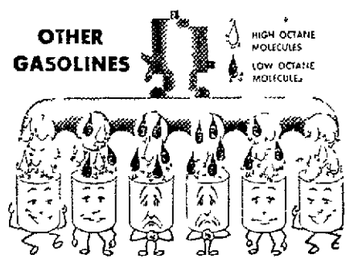
Smoother high-test action than premium-priced gasolines

... and you save up to 2¢ a gallon

We believe no gasoline, even premium-priced, can match Dynafuel's incomparable smoothness

HERE'S WHY: ALL gasolines (including Sunoco Dynafuel) are composed of "light" and "heavy" molecules. As the gasoline goes into the cylinders from the carburetor, some of the "heavy" molecules separate from the rest of the gasoline and go to certain cylinders which get most of the "heavy" molecules, while other cylinders get mostly "light" molecules.

OTHER GASOLINES — HIGH OCTANE MOLECULES — LOW OCTANE MOLECULES



IN MOST OTHER GASOLINES the 'heavy' molecules are low in octane quality but the 'light" molecules are high octane The cylinders receiving the low grade "heavy" molecules do not receive the same high knockless quality as other cylinders

IN SUNOCO DYNAFUEL, all molecules, both "heavy and 'light" deliver equally high octane power No matter whether a cylinder receives "light" or heavy' molecules, that cylinder and all cylinders receive uniformly high knockless quality

SUNOCO DYNAFUEL — ALL MOLECULES ARE HIGH OCTANE QUALITY

CARDINALS, DODGERS LOSE-PLAYOFF SERIES SET

SPORTS ROUND UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Exclusive, if true (and the guy from whom we got the story claims it is true, though he agrees all concerned will deny it.) . . . The story is that just after Bo McMillin's Indiana team won the Western conference football title last fall, he was approached by Kentucky, which was trying hard to inaugurate a comeback.

Bo met Kentucky officials at the home of his old friend, Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler and after considerably dickering, signed a $15,000 a year contract. It was contingent, of course, upon his getting a release from Indiana and Bo couldn t get it so the whole thing was dropped. . . . "I know the story is true," says the informant, "because the university was to pay $10,000 of Bo's salary and the alumni were to make up the other $5,000. I was one of the alumni putting the bee on the other guys for the $5,000."

ANOTHER ONE.

In addition to the Charley Trippi vs. Bob Fenimore duel on the field, the Georgia-Oklahoma Aggies game Oct. 19 will warm up one of the hottest of current football coaching feuds. . . It started during the preliminaries to the Chicago All-Star game when Georgia's Wally Butts was diagramming one of his pet pass plays.

Jim Lookabaugh, the Aggies' outspoken coach, remarked: "It won't work." . . . They continued to exchange words at intervals until the post-game party, when Jim challenged Wally to wrestle. . . . The smaller Butts, a good boxer and wrestler during his college days, hesitated and Lookabaugh demanded: "Well, what are you waiting on?" . . . Butts answered: "Just give me time to get a little bet down on myself."

First Deadlocked Race In Big League History

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK—(UP)—Brooklyn fans, temporarily sane again, stood by today for the post-season playoffs between their Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals and hope that the history made yesterday won't repeat itself.

They just couldn't stand it.

For with the history came hysteria as the Dodgers and Cardinals both dropped their final games to wind up in baseball's first tie for a pennant in its 70 years of major league existence.

The Dodgers were crushed to earth by a man who took almost fiendish delight in levelling them. That man was Morton Cooper, an inspired giant of a pitching machine, who hurled a four-hit, 4 to 0 victory for the Boston Braves that will go down with the truly great games ever pitched.

And then when all hope seemed to have ebbed and the faithful gathered around the scoreboard to watch the progress of the Cardinal game with the Chicago Cubs, a miracle occurred. The Cubs arose in a five-run indignation rally to crush the Cardinals as a group in the same way that Cooper had laid low the Dodgers as an individual.

The 30,756 fans had found little to cheer about as Cooper kept burning in his fast one against the Dodgers, but they went zany with delight as the Cubs finally won, 8 to 3, and the National league race ended in an exact tie.

For Cooper, a disappointment since he left the Cardinals early last season to go with the Braves, the victory was as important as any he ever pitched as the ace of the Redbirds. The big fellow was a fairly consistent winner against Brooklyn in the 1942, '43, and '44 seasons when he was the Cardinal ace in three straight successful pennant drives. But since going to Boston he had lost to the Dodgers five straight times, four this year.

And it seemed like questionable strategy on the part of Manager Billy Southworth to start him yesterday, since he had rested only two days since pitching a three-hit shutout against the Giants. But the will to win countered any warmness he might have felt along the route and at the finish he still was full of fire. He didn't walk a man and all of the four hits he yielded were singles.

His closest brush with trouble came in the eighth when Bruce Edwards was safe on Shortstop Dick Culler's wide throw. Dodger Manager Leo Durocher sent in Joe Medwick to hit for Pitcher Vic Lombardi and he responded with a single. Eddie Stanky's force-out sent Edwards to third, but Cooper bore down on Cookie Lavagetto and forced him to lift a weak fly to end the threat.

The removal of Lombardi, who had pitched a four-hitter himself, led to more trouble as the Braves blasted Relief Pitchers Kirby Higbe and Hugh Casey for three runs on a walk and four hits. Finally Joe Hatten, who had beaten the Braves on Saturday, came in to put out the fire, but by then the Dodger hopes of victory had been burned crisp.

Always before throughout the tingling duel, there had been a hope that the Dodgers would overcome the 1 to 0 lead that had been produced on Cooper's single and ex-Dodger Billy Herman's revengeful double in the third. From that inning until the seventh Lombardi pitched hitless ball and was touched for meaningless singles in the seventh and eighth.

But the Dodgers, who had beaten the Braves 17 out of 21 times before yesterday, couldn't do anything against Cooper so they lost the one game they needed most of all.

Before the Dodgers left for St. Louis, Durocher nominated Ralph Branca, his fast young right-hander, to pitch the opener of the three-game playoff series there Tuesday.

The Dodgers, who once held a 7½ game lead on July 2, led the race for 98 days in the 167-day campaign while St. Louis was out in front 40 days and the teams were tied 25.

Bobby Feller Sets New Mark

CLEVELAND—(AP)—In his last chance this year, fireballer Bob Fellero of the Cleveland Indians accomplished his self-set mission —a new record of 348 strikeouts for one season bettering by five the listed record set by Rube Waddell of the Philadelphia Athletics 42 years ago.

Besides that, Feller achieved his 26th triumph in defeating the Detroit Tigers 4 to 1 yesterday, and got revenge against Hal Newhouser, who beat the Indian ace 3 to 0 in a meeting last week.

Feller fanned five in the season finale at Detroit to set the new record, one strikeout shy of an unofficial record credited to Waddell.

The strikeout that put him ahead of the official record was, gratifyingly, on Newhouser in the fifth inning. In the same frame Bob fanned Hank Greenburg and Dick Wakefield, then whiffed Greenberg a second time and Jimmy Bloodwirth in the eighth. The victory was Feller's first in five tries against the Tigers this season.

The Indian hurler leaves today for Pittsburgh where his barnstorming troupe of major leaguers open an exhibition tour against Satchell Paige's Negro stars.

Mehock's Harriers Open 1946 Season

Coach Harry Mehock's cross country team plays host to the Fremont Ross Harriers tomorrow at 4 p. m. on the Coolridge golf course.

With three lettermen, Bob Kiber, Pete Vogt, and Harold Leppert, returning, the Bengels are favored to win over Ross, in their opening encounter.

Other members of the squad are Martin Bricker, Jim Schuler, Joe Schopp, Ruddy Sheetz, Al Pittman and Jim Kibler. Bob Shade, former Tyger trackman has been helping Mehock with the thinclads.

CARD ACE — Manager Eddie Dyer has nominated Howie Pollet, ace southpaw, to go against the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first game of the National league playoff which opens tomorrow in St. Louis. Pollet has won 20 games but has a pulled muscle in his left shoulder. If Pollet can't go, Dyer will use Murry Dickson, 14-6.

Red Sox Start Sweating Out National Loop Playoff Series

BOSTON—(UP)—The Boston Red Sox unpacked their bags today and started "sweating it out" while Brooklyn and St. Louis battled for the honor of meeting them in the world series.

In their "sweating out" process, the Red Sox will be aided and abetted by an American league all-star team which they will play tomorrow, Wednesday, Thursday and possibly Friday at Fenway park. Hank Greenberg, Jo DiMaggio, Hal Newhouser and George Stirnweiss will be among the all-star players.

The post-season series is Manager Joe Cronin's idea, and General Manager Eddie Collins of the Red Sox thinks it's a good way of keeping the American league champions from "going stale." The scheme is not without precedent.

The Red Sox luggage was all packed at Fenway park and ready for shipment, either to Brooklyn or St. Louis, yesterday when news of the National League tie was announced.

The Red Sox, in danger of going stale during their long wait for the opening of the world series, were whitewashed by Washington, 7 to 0, yesterday.

Spud Chandler of the New York Yankees became the American league's fifth pitcher to win 20 games this season when he blanked the Athletics 6 to 0. The Yanks also won the nightcap in seven innings, 2 to 1.

The St. Louis Browns nosed out the Chicago White Sox, 8 to 7.

In the National league, while the Cubs were holding on to third place by downing the Cardinals, the Cincinnati Reds warded off Pittsburgh's bid for a twin bed in sixth place by trimming the Bucs twice, 1 and 0 and 3 to 2.

The Giants beat the Phillies 3 to 1 but still wound up in the cellar, two games behind Pittsburgh.

Buddy Kerr, shortstop of the Giants, set two new fielding records. He played his fifty-second errorless game and he ran to 275 his total of accepted chances without error.

Favored Bears Top Packers

NEW YORK—(UP)—The Chicago Bears, pre-season favorite in the National Football league, were making the prediction look good today.

The Bears, hitting with all their pre-war power, crushed the Green Bay Packers, their most bitter rivals in a season-opening game, 30 to 7. In other NFL openers, the Philadelphia Eagles, rated the best darkhorse, whipped the defending champion Los Angeles Rams, 25 to 14, and the Pittsburgh Steelers turned in a mild upset with a 14 to 14 tie against the Washington Red Skins.

Sid Luckman, the man who makes the Bear T-formation work, passed for two Chicago touchdowns while he got good ground support from Bill Osmanski.

The All-America conference, already well into its schedule, was dominated by the Browns, who trounced the New York Yankees, 24 to 7, for their fourth victory without loss or tie. The Buffalo Bisons, losers of all four of their previous games, surprised the undefeated Los Angeles Dons with a 21 to 21 tie, and the Chicago Rockets topped San Francisco, 24 to 7.

Flying Boots, Mansfield Dog, Winner at Xenia

XENIA — Flying Boots, from Clyde Moore's kennel in Mansfield won the honors in the first line event here yesterday afternoon. Approximately 110 dogs were entered.

Red Flash, owned by Cy Music of Springfield, took the second line honors. Singer Boy, Stuart Plank's entry from Columbus was first tree winner, and Jov Boy, running for Glenn McMillen of Columbus took the second tree prizes.

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— Billy Herman, 36-year-old Boston Braves infielder, today was named manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, succeeding Frankie Frisch, who resigned last Saturday.

The announcement of Herman's appointment was made at a news conference held by Frank McKinney, president of the Pirates.

Pete Thoma's '46 Coolridge Golf Champion

Pete Thoma is the 1946 Coolridge golf champion today after defeating Ed Blonston 4 to 3 yesterday. Thoma had a one-under-par 69-55—124, when the match ended on the 33rd hole.

Thoma went six-up on Blonston on the first nine in the afternoon when he shot four birdies and five pars to tie a club record with a four-under-par 30. He had been two-up at the conclusion of the first 18 holes.

Blonston, who finished fifth in the Richland County golf tourney two weeks ago, and was favored yesterday, carded a three-over-par 128 for 33 holes. Blonston finished strong, winning 3 of the last six holes.

In the play-off for the second and third flights last week, Frank Cipris defeated Tony Schadek 5 to 3, while Angelo Taddeo, shot a 40-38—78 to win 3 to 2 over Bill Kaylor who had a 41-40—81.

Notre Dame, Texas Challenge Army's Two-Year Pigskin Reign

NEW YORK—(AP)—Notre Dame and Texas stood out today as the most serious challengers of Army's two-year reign in the college football domain after a week-end filled with surprises.

The Fighting Irish opened their bid for national honors by whipping a strong Illinois team, 26-6, Saturday and should hurdle the second step this week against Pittsburgh at South Bend.

Texas followed up its 42-0 conquest of Missouri by overwhelming Colorado, 76-0. The Longhorns must face Oklahoma A. and M. on the Texas turf this week.

The Aggies saw a 20-game winning streak come to an end in a 21-21 tie with Arkansas Saturday but still look powerful enough to give the Longhorns their first real test.

Army, hard pressed to beat Oklahoma, 21-7, with Doc Blanchard on the bench, catches Cornell, 21-0 conquerer of Bucknell, in its third game at West Point.

Navy, which opened with a 7-0 triumph over Villanova, moves in against Columbia, which stopped Rutgers, 13-7, and Colgate invades Yale, 33-0 winner over the Merchant Marine academy.

Other top games in the east this week will find Brown at Princeton, Syracuse at Dartmouth Tufts at Harvard, Detroit at Holy Cross and Lafayette at Pennsylvania.

Missouri will be at St. Louis. Boston college at Michigan State and Tulsa at Drake for other non-conference games in the midwest.

Arkansas invades Texas Christian, a 19-16 winner over Baylor, for a Southwest conference tussle. Texas Tech will go to Southern Methodist and Southwestern to Rice for non-league frays.

The Pacific coast conference slate sends Oregon to California, UCLA to Washington and Idaho to Washington State.

Alabama plays at South Carolina. Tennessee moves against Duke.

Ben Hogan Takes Another Golf Title

DALLAS —(INS)— Ben Hogan, the pride of Fort Worth, Tex., is $2,000 richer today after finishing first in the $10,000 Dallas Open Golf oturnament with a four over par score of 284.

Hogan's triumph yesterday was the first over-par score to win a major tourney since the Richmond, Va., meet last fall.

His stroke total for the 72 holes of play over the wind-blown and soggy Brook Hollow course was two better than the cards turned in by Paul Runyon of Pasadena, Cal., and Herman Keiser of Akron, who tied for second.

Five pros and two amateurs tied for third place at 287. The leading amateurs were Frank Stranahan, Toledo, and Earl Stewart, jr., Dallas.

TYGER GRID SQUAD TRAVELS THIS WEEK

Victorious in three consecutive home contests, the Mansfield Tyger football squad takes to the highways for the first time this season when it plays at Portsmouth Friday night in the top scholastic clash of the week.

Both aggregations have won three straight encounters and were ranked in the top ten teams in last week's Ohio INS grid poll. The Trojans held down third place in the standings and the Tygers were tenth. However, a new set of standings will be released tomorrow.

Coach Paul Snyder's pigskin performers hung the worst defeat in history on a hapless band of Sandusky Blue Streaks here last Friday night while Portsmouth was coming from behind to trip Springfield, 20 to 14. Springfield took a first half lead of 14 points before Portsmouth regained its poise.

Trojan ace Dave Thomas started the Portsmouth rally with a beautiful 92-yard run ond Gib Clowe picked up a six-pointer in the third quarter and another in the fourth.

Last season, Mansfield pounded out a 19 to 6 triumph over the Trojans and Coach Augie Morningstar's lads are primed for the Bengals. Portsmouth has defeated Ceredo-Kenova, W. Va., 40 to 6, Charlestown, W. Va., 41 to 13, and Springfield.

With the exception of Ralph Majors, who limped off the field in the second quarter, the Tygers are in good shape for the Trojans. Majors suffered a leg bruise but should be ready to go. Ray Beard, tackle, and Nick Gagich, blocker, who missed the Sandusky tilt will also return to action.

Snyder's 28-man varsity squad is scheduled to leave for Portsmouth Friday morning. The Tyger Booster club is financing the Mansfield high marching band's trip to Portsmouth.

Mansfield's sophomore football team meets the Marion Harding reserves tomorrow night at Stadium field at 7:30. The Tyger Cubs topped Bellville, 21 to 6, two weeks ago in their only 1946 tilt.

INS ROUNDUP

It may take a flip of a coin to decide the state's mythical high school football champion, come November.

The season is still in its infancy of course, but already a number of elevens have established themselves as power-laden outfits.

Cleveland Cathedral Latin last week's nominal leader, now unbeaten in 28 games, set a fast pace with a 52-0 trouncing of Cleveland Glenville Friday.

Meanwhile, Newark, Alliance, Mansfield, Campbell, Dayton Chaminade and Portsmouth won for the third week in a row.

Mansfield looked particularly rugged as it slaughtered Sandusky, 55 to 2. Chaminade, seeking its second straight unbeaten season, had no trouble in defeating Dayton Kiser, 33-0, Campbell, another 1945 leader, was a 19-0 victor over Youngstown Chaney.

Alliance had to wofk its hardest to date to subdue East Liverpool, 25 to 16. Newark and Middletown beat Dover and Dayton Wilbur Wright, respectively, by identical 13-7 tallies. Portsmouth fought to a 20-14 win over Springfield.

A few clubs suffered their initial setbacks. Lima South lost, 26 to 0, to Hamilton. Martins Ferry was whipped, 13-7, by Wheeling, W. Va. Lakewood ended an 11-game undefeated streak for Cleveland Heights, 14-13.

Lorain and Younstown East battled to a scoreless tie.

Ohio College Grid Squads Have Rough Time; Four 'Big-Timers' Suffer Humiliating Losses

By DON STULL

(AP Sports Writer)

Ohio college football elevens still held an edge of nine victories against seven defeats in games with out-of-state foes today, but Buckeye pigskin prestige plummeted from the heights to the depths over the weekend, nevertheless.

For four of the state's so-called "Big Timers"—Ohio State, Cincinnati, Xavier and Bowling Green —suffered humiliating setbacks against foreign foes.

Ohio State's 13-13 tie with Missouri's Tigers was the most humiliating. The Bucks were favored to swamp Missouri after the Tigers dropped their opener to Texas by the lopsided score of 42 to 0, but blew five good scoring opportunities and had to come from behind in the final period to gain a tie with the morally-victorious Tigers.

Cincinnati's 7-26 loss to Kentucky hurt the Buckeye standing too for the Cincy Bearcats won national recognition a week earlier by upsetting Indiana's Western conference champs 15-6

Bowling Green State, apparently loaded with talent and boasting one of the largest squads in the state at pre-season practice opening, fell a 7-0 victim to Central Michigan, which bowed to Ohio Wesleyan the week before.

Xavier's Musketeers outgained St. Ambrose of Davenport, Iowa, 263 to 143 yards on the ground, but couldn't get inside the 19-yard line yesterday and lost 3-0 3-0 on an 18-yard first-quarter field goal by sub tackle Harry Leech of the Saints.

But the story wasn't one of utter defeat. Six other Buckeye clubs triumphed over the outsiders Saturday.

Otterbein's Cardinals, who almost upset West Virginia in opening, swamped Detroit Tech at Detrot, 58 to 0, as Quarterback Dick Roush tallied three six-pointers to lead the touchdown parade.

The Dayton Flyers, aided by Jack Castingalga's two td's, shocked the Wichita, Kas., Shockers, 20 to 0, at Dayton.

Fullback Tony Palmero also chalked up two six-pointers as Akron's Zippers turned the score around on Lawrence Tech of Detroit, winning 31-13

Youngstown's Penguins made it two in a row, overcoming a 14-point lead to down St Bonaventure 24 to 14, on the latter's gridiron.

Ohio University's Bobcats, starting their 50th football campaign, came from behind, too, to wipe out a 7-0 halftime margin and defeat Murray (Ky.) State Teachers 27-7.

Miami's Redskins, who nearly upset Purdue, trounced the Memphis Air Transport Command Rockets, 42 to 0, and uncovered a place-kicking specialist in Tom Cole of Lakewood, who booted six in a row.

In Ohio conference openers, Baldwin-Wallace rolled over John Carroll 48 to 0, Muskingum thumped Capital 26-6 Mount Union scored 12 points and shutout Findlay, and Heidelberg edged Ashland, 7 to 0.

Besides Youngstown, three other Buckeye teams got over the season's second hurdle without defeat or tie. Ohio Wesleyan's No. 2 victim was Case of Cleveland 27 to 0 Ohio Northern's was Rio Grande 13-6 and Wilberforce's was Lockbourne Army Air Base, 71 to 0

Kent State opened with a 40-0 mutilation of Hiram and Western Reserve and Toledo battled to a 14-14 tie in the closest contest of the day.

Stop Heckling Jefferson, U.S. Tells Spiders

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government issued this ultimatum to a bunch of squatter spiders: "You've got to quit heckling Thomas Jefferson."

Nobody knows when the spiders, apartment hunting in jammed-to-the-rafters Washington, spotted the Jefferson memorial, and moved in.

They could have been happy and unmolested there, in this $3,500,000 hunk of marble, with a lovely view of the Potomac.

Alas, they fell victims of their incurable habit. In effect, they were caught in their own webs.

H. T. Thompson, assistant superintendent of the National Capital Parks service, told a reporter the impudent critters soon began cobwebbing like — well, like spiders.

This, of course, was a pretty howdy-do. Tourists who dropped in to see Jefferson remained to tsk, tsk! at the cobwebs.

So Thompson, acting as agent for the landlord, Uncle Sam, handed the spiders their eviction notice.

He wrapped the notice in DDT. Results: "Promising."

While on the subject, Thompson disclosed that the present statue of Jefferson is a phoney. The real statue, of bronze, couldn't be cast during the war, but Thompson hopes it will be ready by Jefferson's birthday, next April 13.

And all this time multitudes of tourists have gaped at the statue, thinking it marble.

Marble? Hah! It's pure plaster of paris.

Missouri Seeks Skilled Workers

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. —(UP)—There's a job for you in Missouri if you're a glass bender or a steeple-jack. And there are many other job openings ranging from sewing machine operators to aeronautical engineers.

Officials of the U. S employment service office here are pleading for workers in hard-to-fill positions. They reveal there is a serious surplus of employes in many Missouri communities and at the same time a critical shortage in some occupations.

Shelby Reservoir Closed To Fishermen As Project Begins

SHELBY — The city reservoir will be closed to public fishing starting tomorrow because of the erosion correction project underway in charge of the city and the fish re-stocking program planned by the community stocking committee and the state conservation division. The reservoir will be reopened with appropriate ceremonies on June 16.

The Shelby conservation fish division committee in charge of the fishing at the reservoir believe that the stocking of the fish would be useless for next spring if fishing was to be continued in the reservoir until the fish spawned in the spring.

The reservoir's water has been low this month leaving a high bank all around the reservoir.

Approximately $150 will be spent by the community stocking committee this fall for fish for the reservoir in addition to the 1,600 pounds of catfish placed there this summer through the donation money received from area fishermen. The state will send some large mouth black bass for the reservoir in addition to the small fingerling size fish placed there by the federal government through the co-operation of J. Harry McGregor, congressman from the 17th district.

The Ohio Seamless Tube company reservoir will be netted for fish by the state this fall and placed in the city reservoir.

UNDECIDED ON NEWMAN SITE SPECIAL MEET

Arlin Sees 'Nothing to Be Gained' in Extra Board Session.

Mansfield school board members were undecided today on whether to call a special meeting for consideration of a change in the site of the new Newman school building.

A special meeting was requested by a committee of Newman school parents Saturday in a petition with 528 signatures from the school area, against the school board's selection of the site on Central avenue.

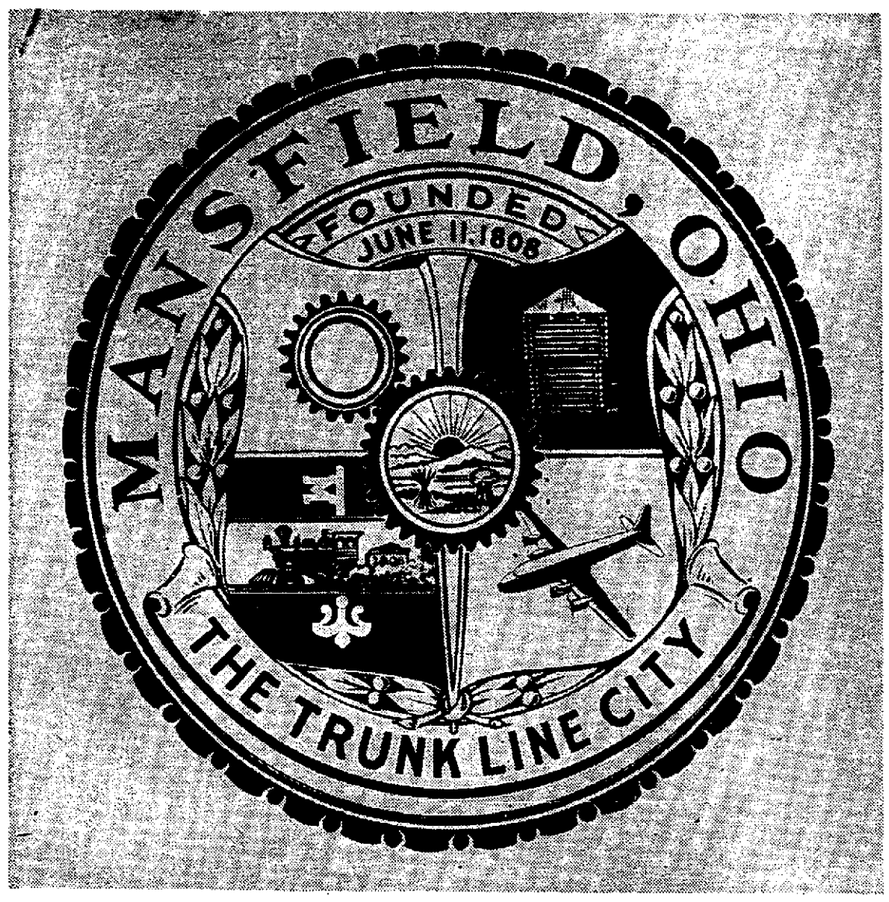
"I don't know what's to be gained by calling a meeting, because most of the land has been purchased," Harold W. Arlin, president of the board, said today.

Arlin added that it was "unlikely" that the site would be changed, but that a meeting was "possible" if other members of the school board were in favor of it.

"Before the bond issue was up for voting last fall, representatives of the Newman PTA and the Liberty Park association suggested the Central avenue site for the school, along with two other sites," Arlin continued.

Supt. W. L. Miller said today he "doubted" if a special meeting will be called before the regular board meeting, Oct. 21.

"The land for the site isn't all bought, yet," Miller said. "A special meeting would have to be called by either the president of the board or by three members of the board."



MODERNIZED—The airplane in Mansfield's official seal brings it up-to-date. Previously the seal just included the blockhouse (upper right) a locomotive and coal car (lower left) three cogs and the state seal (center). It now sports a four-motored plane, in recognition of the city's top-flight airport. The original seal was designed in 1940. City council has to approve the adding of the plane, recommended by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and J. Gilbert Baird, who was chairman of the airport dedication committee.

NAZI LEADERS FACE VERDICT

plan or conspiracy to commit the other three counts—is common to all the defendants. The other counts charged crimes against peace, war crimes and crimes against humanity.

Dealing with a defense contention that some of the defendants had only carried out orders, the tribunal ruled: "A defense of 'superior orders' has never been recognized as a defense to crime but is considered in mitigation as the charter here provides."

The judgment reviewed the acts of aggression and time after time quoted the minutes of Hitler's secret conferences planning war to show that the Nazi's intentions were clear from the start.

The justices held that the campaigns against Poland, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Yugoslavia, Greece and Russia were "aggressive war."

In discussing the two counts of the indictment relating to crimes against humanity and war crimes, the tribunal listed act after act and said again: "The evidence was quite overwhelming of a systematic rule of violence, brutality and terror."

In dealing with the extermination of Jews, the tribunal cited estimates of 6,000,000 killed under Hitler's program and said the hair of the women victims was cut off before they were killed to be used in the production of mattresses.

Bartley, robbery; John C. Laughlin, rape without consent; Lawrence Fox and Ralph W. Cline, breaking and entering an uninhabited building; and James R. Travis, operating a motor vehicle without the owners consent.

Meanwhile in juvenile court, Ernest Young, Seventh avenue, was sentenced to one-year in the Columbus workhouse and was fined $1,000 on three counts of contributing to the delinquency of small girls.

Young had been convicted in juvenile court on the contributing charge involving three Mansfield girls seven, eight, and 10 years old. He had appealed his case to the Fifth District court of appeals where the decision of the lower court was upheld.

Judge Stuart H. Cramer said he imposed the maximum sentence.

2 KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

I first saw it, I would judge the plane was 100 feet from the ground.

"A few seconds after it hit the ground it exploded and burst into flames. I don't know whether the motor was running when the plane dropped or not.

"The clouds were awfully low," Criswell went on. "The plane went over the house a few minutes before it crashed. It was so low the windows shook. I heard the motor shut off a couple of times and then come back on. A fine mist was falling."

Criswell said the engine of the plane was buried in the ground by the impact. Perrysville volunteer firemen were called to fight the blaze which almost destroyed the plane.

The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were taken to the Peoples funeral home in Loudonville. Both bodies were to be taken to funeral homes in Akron today.

Rang, secretary of the Akron Touchdown club, officiated at the Akron Bears-Jersey City Giants' professional football game in Cleveland Saturday night. He was regarded as one of the state's leading sports officials. He was a member of the Ohio Officials' association and a former president of the Eastern Ohio Officials' association.

Rang was graduated from the University of Akron in 1928 where he excelled in athletics. He had taken up flying as a hobby as the result of his interest in developing airplane tires. He had held a private flying license two years.

Both men, it was reported had taken off from the Akron airport with two other planes from the flying club, early Sunday. The other pilots reported they had not seen the wreck.

PHOSPHATE SHIPPED

AUCKLAND, N. Z.—(AP)—New Zealand's production of dairy produce will be greatly assisted by the resumption of phosphate shipments from Nauru and Ocean Islands, two rich phosphate islands near the Equator, which were captured by the Japanese during their advance in the Pacific.

From the enormous deposits of phosphate on the two islands about 1,250,000 tons were shipped every year before the war. Farming economy in both Australia and New Zealand rests very largely on extensive use of phosphate as fertilizer to keep the pastures in good condition.

OCTOBER 5th is an important date

All men who volunteer for the new Regular Army on or before October 5, 1946, are guaranteed the full educational benefits of the G. I. Bill of Rights for the complete term of their enlistment—1, 1½, 2 or 3 years, whichever they choose.

For men enlisting after October 5th, benefits under the G. I. Bill of Rights will accrue only so long as the period of emergency exists. Upon official termination of the war, these benefits cease.

These benefits, which include the opportunity to get a full college, trade or business school education, are very important to every man who plans to enlist in the new Regular Army. Be sure you get all the facts before October 5th from your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1946

The leaf-raking season has arrived—as a preliminary to the more violent exercise of snow-shoveling.

Whatever became of that oldtime society page favorite, the one that found the young couple, soon after marriage, "ensconced in their new domicile."

Recipe: "Select a tender steak, 1½ inches thick, allowing one-third to one-half pound per person"—which sounds very nice, except that it was found in a 1928 cook book.

Higher Membership Goal Set By C. of C.

MANSFIELD'S Chamber of Commerce has come to be recognized as such a vital force in community activities and progress that its maintenance at the highest possible level of efficiency is now taken for granted.

Year after year more Mansfield people have evidenced willingness to not only pay the Chamber of Commerce membership fee but also to share actively in the work of that organization, and recent increase in prospective members who have become, or are soon to become, residents of this city, indicates that the 1,100 goal set for the membership campaign scheduled to start tomorrow, is none too high.

Last year's near approach to the 1,000 membership mark justifies disregarding that number as a satisfactory stopping point in this week's campaign, which is expected to be rounded out by Friday.

A look at the variety of constructive civic activities in which the Chamber of Commerce appears in either a position of leadership or interested co-operation is convincing proof of the importance of providing the financial support necessary to carry on this work—and to enlarge its scope in keeping step with Mansfield's industrial, business, professional and residential growth.

The pledge of the Chamber of Commerce is worthy of thought by any who may not already fully understand its purposes. This organization is pledged to "constantly and aggressively strive for the accomplishment of those things which will be helpful in the development and healthy growth of our community, and otherwise make it an even better place in which to work and live."

Despite accomplishments of the past and present, many things yet remain to be done for the betterment of Mansfield, and while each of the city's organizations, agencies and individual residents is in position to share in helpful service, it is the Chamber of Commerce that is specifically devoted to making a full-time job of community advancement—its obligation being to "work for the good of ALL citizens."

Four days should be ample to complete the membership canvass—those who are devoting time to this task are busy people . . . be ready to renew your membership or enroll as a new member when called upon.

Management Also Has Part To Play

AN ARTICLE in Fortune magazine describes the attitude of Fowler McCormick, head of International Harvester, toward labor-industry problems. He agrees with labor's demands for union security, participation to some degree with management in economic affairs, and the best possible working conditions, wages, hours, etc.

But, in return for this, he feels that three other principles must be established: "Employes must be free to join or not to join a union; there must be a recognition of the ultimate right and duty of management to make management decisions; and there must be a reasonable return on invested capital which can only be obtained by full productive effort of employes . . ."

These three points merit thoughtful consideration. If a man must join a union before he is privileged to hold a job in which to earn a living he is placed under what amounts to a labor dictatorship which deprives him of the most basic of all human rights, as guaranteed under the United States Constitution. If management is prevented from making and carrying through decisions, capital investments which make all employment possible, would be without the protection made possible by competent management, and if wages are to be determined by wishes, not ability to pay, the source of jobs will eventually dry up and all liberties will eventually give way to a condition of state socialism. Just labor-management relations require mutual understandings of the problems of each.

Fewer 'Easy Marks', Maybe

REPORTS coming in from over the country indicate that people are becoming more cautious in real estate deals. Six months ago, it was easy to get four times the appraisal value for a big, old house, but now it is usually possible to get only three times the value. And this in spite of the fact that housing continues to be a problem.

Reports from different sections indicate that this trend started in July, and does not extend to newly built houses. Banks are showing some degree of caution in granting huge mortgage loans on what they consider insufficient security.

After all, perhaps the application of old-fashioned common sense would be the best deterrent to inflationary tendencies in real estate and in other commodities.

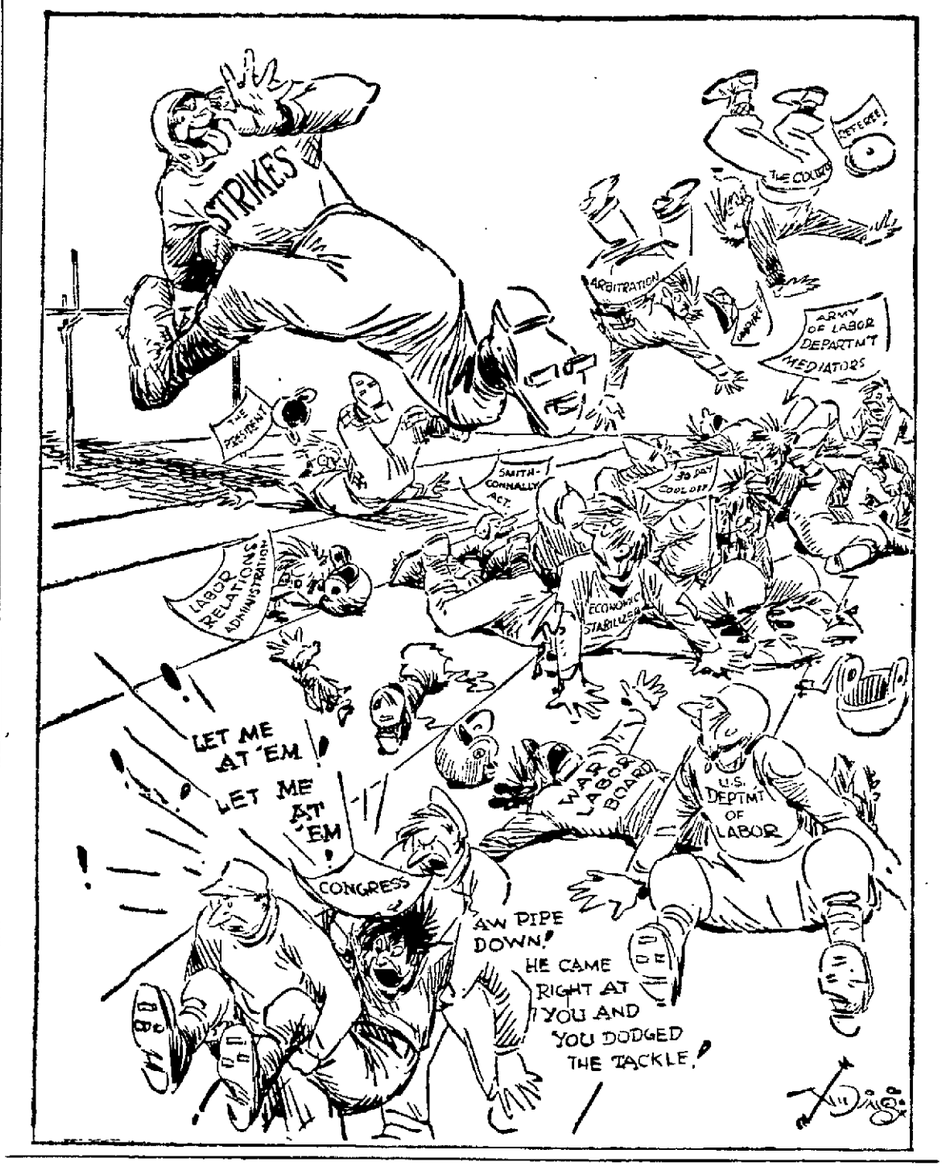
Practical Instruction In Farming

IN THE Middle West farming country a special kind of high school course for veterans is proving to be a practical experiment. Instructors do some classroom teaching, but they don't stop at that. They go home with the pupils and spend at least two hours a week on the veterans' own farms, helping them put theory into practice.

Certainly this should be an effective way for young farmers to learn, right on home ground, where they can tackle the particular problems of their own land.

It is now announced, in an embarrassed sort of way, that there is to be no public showing of the Louis-Mauriello fight film.

THERE MUST BE A HOLE IN OUR DEFENSE



Pearson Proposes 'Five-Year Plan' To Improve U. S.-Russo Relations

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—This is going to be what editors call a "think" column. Ordinarily, editors pay me not to think. I am supposed to report what Washington bigwigs think and talk about behind closed doors or in White House inner sanctums. Therefore, as far as today's column is concerned, editors won't get their money's worth.

This column is an attempt to examine the most vital question facing the nation—how we can avoid war with Russia.

Naturally I have been doing a lot of thinking about this. So have other people. Mr. Wallace's letter to President Truman on Russia has made people think more than ever before, which was one reason I published it.

A thinking public is the best guarantee possible of good government, and sound foreign relations; and personally I am of the opinion that the American people do more and clearer thinking about our problems than Washington realizes. Usually they are far ahead of their government.

Furthermore, if wars were left to the people, there never would be war. This is true not merely of the American people, but all people. In all the world's history I doubt if there ever was a war which was started by the people. It's just psychologically impossible for the people to initiate anything as drastic as war.

Russian People vs. Kremlin.

War has to be made by kings or dictators or governments. That, of course, is the great danger about Russia. Unfortunately, in Russia—as with Germany in 1914 and 1938—a handful of men can start war, despite the fact that the Russian people are as sick and bored and disgusted with war as any in the world.

This fact, plus the giant army maintained by Russia, plus the frenzied rebuilding of munitions factories throughout the Soviet zone, is the basic reason for Jimmy Byrnes' get-tough policy.

It is also why I have reluctantly agreed with him. After exercising considerable patience, Byrnes came to the conclusion that the only language understood and spoken by the Kremlin (not necessarily the Russian people) is a show of firmness backed by force.

However, you can't beat something with nothing. You can't cure a dangerous ill with no healing medicine. You can't remain on the edge of the battlefield making faces and waving weapons indefinitely. Sooner or later someone is going to retreat, advance, or fire a shot. Then the real trouble starts.

Therefore, without deserting the Byrnes policy of straight-arming Russia, we have to go further and find a more constructive policy that will occasionally let us rest our arm.

Five-Year Plan.

In this connection I propose as my humble contribution to improving the peace of the world, a five-year plan for friendship with Russia.

The Russians are strong for five-year plans. This is a language they speak and understand. So let's take a page from their book and work out a five-year plan for peace and friendship. At the end of five years the plan renews automatically, unless one side gives notice—and that notice automatically would be a warning of potential war.

Aim of this five-year plan would be to cement good will between the Russian and American peoples, to put them on the same basis as the British and American peoples, to build up so much good will that no group of men in the Kremlin could hastily or wantonly declare war.

The American and British people would kick out any president or prime minister who proposed war between them, and what the American and Russian people need is a five-year breathing space to start getting similarly acquainted.

Here are some of the planks I would put in the platform of our five-year plan for peace with Russia.

Moratorium on Arms.

1. Declare a five-year moratorium on all rearmament. This would leave the Red army much bigger than ours, but our navy vastly bigger than theirs, in addition to which we have more airplanes, more factories, and—not to be sneezed at—the A-bomb.

2. Teach the Russian language for at least one year in every American high school, and English for one year in the schools of Russia. Language is the greatest aid of all to understanding.

3. Bring the Moscow ballet to the USA for a tour of our leading cities, also the Red Army Chorus. Simultaneously send the Metropolitan Grand Opera, the Rockettes, and the Tuskeegee Singers for a tour of the USSR.

4. Establish one American newspaper in Moscow printed in the Russian language to explain the American viewpoint to the Russian people; with a similar Russian paper published in New York to explain Russia to the American people. There would be no consorship of either paper.

5. Establish an American radio station in Moscow and a Russian station in New York to broadcast the respective viewpoints of the Russian and American peoples, together with cultural music and drama. Each station would be absolutely free to say anything it wished for five years. This would be an advantage to the Soviet since there are few receiving sets in Russia. However, we should have the right to distribute a certain number of sets to Russians.

Send Wallace to Moscow.

6. Exchange 25,000 students between the two countries the first year, 50,000 the second, 100,000 the third and so on. This would be difficult at first, but in the long run it would build up a guarantee of friendship, which no dictator could surmount with war.

7. Organize US-USSR sports contests, with teams visiting back and forth. When I worked in the Balkans after the last war, we had difficulty keeping the younger-generation Albanians and Serbs from fighting—as their parents had for hundreds of years—until we taught them to play football. Then they were so absorbed they forgot their other feuds.

8. Send Henry Wallace as U. S. ambassador to Moscow. Whether you agree with him or not, he is a sincere, idealistic seeker of peace who might convince the Kremlin that the American people really desire peace. Actually, that is the biggest job of all—selling the Soviet government on peace.

These are just a few planks in a five-year plan for peace and friendship—a plan which could be put across if we are really sincere about avoiding war with Russia.

The plan would not conflict with the United Nations, or in any way weaken the present Byrnes policy. We would continue to be just as firm as ever if Russia got high-handed with another nation's territory. But while being firm, we can also be friendly.

So far we have done a lot of talking, but little acting. We have talked about propaganda broadcasts to Russia and various other piddling moves. But at no time have we wrapped up a big, appealing package and said to the Russians: "Here is a sincere, from-the-heart fifty-fifty proposition of friendship, guaranteed for at least five years—we hope much longer. Take it or leave it."

Certainly, it's worth the gesture. And if it is turned down, then we know we made the effort, and we will also know exactly where we stand.

Please excuse this "think" column. I'll try not to write one too soon again.

J. B. Levering and son bought the Sturgeon dairy plant, East Temple court.

Miss Grace Sowash went to New York to enter Grand Central School of Arts.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hamman, South Main street.

35 YEARS AGO TODAY

Postal savings plan was started at Mansfield postoffice, in charge of Lee Snyder.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On Sept. 30, 1869, George Peabody, an American philanthropist, added the sum of $1,400,000 to the Peabody fund for southern education.

Dave Boone Says:

I LIKED that phrase about a religious group being "the bulldozers of the spiritual world, not merely dreamers about the road to the kingdom of God." It was used by General Orsborn, the new head of the Salvation Army, speaking in New York.

* * *

He used it in emphasizing the need of an "offensive" to revive the spiritual life of people everywhere as a first essential to lasting peace. War in an active and positive manner against spiritual indifference is, as the general says, needed.

* * *

Not everybody agrees with the tactics of the Salvation Army. It has always attacked evil with a bulldozer, and a wider use of that weapon in building a better world may be the ticket.

* * *

It looks as if nothing lighter than a bulldozer would do the difficult job.

Assignment: America

Still Disagree On Housing Legislation.

WASHINGTON—One of these days the congressmen are going to come back to Capitol Hill and resume their law-making.

When that happens, they are going to be confronted with demands for housing legislation.

It is likely that the Wagner-Ellender-Taft long range housing bill which was tabled during the closing days of the last session again will be presented for action.

Already battle lines are being drawn for the fight over the bill. Here in Washington, lobbyists—pro and con—never miss a day getting in their licks. Across the country, speeches are being made on the subject.

And the danger of another lengthy debate and eventual deadlock on housing legislation begins to loom larger every day!

It doesn't call for the services of a soothsayer to see just how great a calamity that would be, when you realize that:

The national housing situation was critical before a single serviceman was demobilized;

Back into civilian clothes—seeking civilian homes—are coming more than 13 million men;

Hundreds of thousands of veterans and their families remain literally homeless today, some sleeping in anything from tents to tar-paper shacks, others doubling up in unhealthy, unhygienic and definitely unhappy fashion;

In the Washington district alone, hundreds who wished to attend colleges and universities are unable to do so because of the lack of housing.

Additional hundreds already fear they will have to drop their courses when winter comes, because of inadequate housing;

That situation is true throughout the country;

Meanwhile, the epidemic of divorce, crime and disease trends directly attributable to the housing shortage grows greater daily.

You could go on and on with that list, pointing out that there are about 100,000 marriages every month, thus calling for new home units, and listing examples of endless hardship cases caused by the lack of housing—but it is not a new or unknown story.

Point of all this is that the situation is not going to solve itself. Nor is it likely to be solved without some sort of national legislation.

This correspondent does not particularly care whether that legislation takes the form of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill or some other measure.

But I do care—after looking at the horrible housing condition in more than 40 states—about some sort of corrective legislation being passed as swiftly as possible when the new congress convenes.

And I do think it would be a crime against the American people as a whole and the veteran in particular if the current controversy were permitted to develop into another barren congressional deadlock.

It is neither this correspondent's privilege nor prerogative to preach — now or any other time—but no individual could return to Washington after seven months of seeing a housing crisis in every single community, and not get riled up at the prospect of another deadlock!

So if a suggestion can be forgiven this time, here it is:

Why don't the pressure groups quit making speeches and writing publicity for and against the Wagner-Ellender-Taft measure, and expend their efforts trying to work out a compromise bill to give the congressmen when they come back?

It would make a lot of people happy—including a good many congressmen I know.

About Traffic Lights.

Editor News-Journal:

The welfare and convenience of the public should be the dominant factor in operation of traffic lights, and for our traffic commissioner to insist on continuation of the time-wasting setup now in use is abusing the authority vested in his position.

One does not have to be a traffic expert to know that traffic lights properly arranged, and timed according to their arrangement, will benefit all concerned.

The traffic light plan that had been used in our business section for the past several years was most practical for one control unit, with existing variation in distance between lights. The only error in that system was the timing. If they had been on a 40- to 43-second complete cycle they would have been better.

(Editor's Note: The writer then outlines a plan of traffic light timing and alternating colors.)

I would welcome the opportunity to talk this over with our city officials.

Roosevelt College Emphasizes Tolerance.

CHICAGO—There's something out here which everybody who is interested in tolerance in our American democratic society should see.

It is something that should interest everyone who wants to see real intellectual freedom. We don't have that yet. It is violated in some of our well-known institutions occasionally, as controversies in recent years show.

Out here is Roosevelt college. Many already know about it and have contributed to its support. It grew out of the quota system in effect in many colleges for admittance of students who belong to minority groups. There are no quotas at Roosevelt.

Admission is open. Within the limit of facilities, to any student who can pass the entrance examinations, whatever his race, religion or color.

All are represented now, not only in the student body of 3,700 but also in the faculty of 167.

Roosevelt college is housed presently in an old office building purchased for the institution. It's not like any college you ever saw. And yet you see how real an institution of learning and free inquiry it is as you wander down the corridors and peer into class rooms where you observe all races and colors. There are white teachers; Negro teachers, Gentile teachers, Jewish teachers, one Hindu, and one Chinese woman.

Roosevelt college, which was founded in 1945, is entering its second year. It had a miraculous first year. It was, for example, the first college ever accredited after less than a year's operation. The rule was waived by the North Central association because of the institution's standing and the fine faculty it had assembled.

Its standing among educators is demonstrated by the fact that it has a thousand applications on file from teachers in other institutions, some of whom expressed a willingness to come to Roosevelt college for a cut in pay.

Its appeal among young people eager for such an educational opportunity is shown by the fact that, because of limited facilities, several thousand who applied have not been able to enter.

At the head of the college is a remarkable man. Dr. E. J. Sparling, its founder and president, formerly was president of Central YMCA College of Chicago. He resigned from that institution because of disagreement with the governing board over issues of academic freedom and the educational rights of members of minority groups. Eighty per cent of the faculty left with him to join this new venture.

A founder's fund of $400,000 was raised by initial contributions of $75,000 from Marshall Field and Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald fund, who is chairman of the board of directors. The rest was subscribed generally, much of it in small sums from public-spirited individuals. The institution has embarked on a campaign to raise two million dollars to carry on its work. It finished its first year in the black.

Dr. Sparling has carried out his ideal of a democratic, co-operative institution with complete academic freedom.

All variety of interests are represented on the board of directors—business management, labor, co-operatives, education.

It includes also a federal judge, a newspaper editor, and a newspaper reporter, John E. McGrath, who did such a splendid job of public service for the Chicago Sun in exposing political control in Chicago's public schools.

Students are encouraged in the best tradition of free inquiry and teachers have complete academic freedom.

STOCKHOLM—The barometer of European elections since the end of the war has shown that the trend is not inevitably to the extreme left. That has been shown in some instances even when the voters went to the polls under the watchful eyes of Soviet occupying forces.

The municipal elections recently held here in Sweden followed the general European trend, but with typical Swedish moderation. The greatest gain was made by the Liberal party, which went from just under 13 per cent of the total vote to 15½ per cent.

The Communists gained less than expected, going from 10 to 11 per cent of the total. The Social Democratic party, in power for fourteen years, polled nearly 45 per cent, which is still 2 per cent above the vote they polled when they came into office.

The chief losers were the conservatives, whose party members are dying off and are not being replaced by a younger generation.

The most significant fact about the election campaign was the moderation of the Social Democrats. They deliberately played down the issue of nationalization of insurance and of the oil industry. This was in response to a feeling of deep concern for traditional liberties, which might be jeopardized by too great an extension of state ownership.

The Liberal party goes very far in the direction of social reform—extension of every kind of social insurance, subsidies to provide housing for families with several children, and in many other ways.

The programs of the Social Democrats and the liberals are not so far apart, except that they split on nationalization and on the terms of the new loan agreement with Russia.

The Communist campaign approach was similar to that which Communists all over the world have been taking. Their campaign poster demanded, with eloquent simplicity, lower prices and higher wages. The chief line was to exploit the embarrassments of the government, which is trying very hard to check new wage demands and prevent inflationary price rises.

The present is a particularly critical time in this effort, since the price index is almost at a point requiring an arbitrary increase in wages of 6 per cent. Therefore, the Communists agitated for wage increases.

They were somewhat handicapped, however, by the fact that last year's strike of metal workers, which they helped to promote, failed dismally. After five months and an expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars out of the union treasury, the strike was settled on the basis of the offer originally made by the companies.

The direction in which the Communists here are moving reveals the typical strategy employed everywhere. Using any and all means, they would like to build their party by taking support from both the left and the right. Then, when both left and right fail to get a working majority of votes, either one or the other will have to turn to the Communists in order to form a coalition government.

That is the same tactic employed by Communists throughout Europe. Once inside a government, they have a position of strategic power, with access to confidential information which invariably finds its way to Moscow.

The liberals, in their election campaign, and liberal newspapers have attacked the regulations imposed by the present government. Many of these regulations have carried over from the war. As everywhere, the people are weary of the prolonged controls that restrict almost every phase of life.

Farmer's Diary: "Migrating Season."

EACH morning at this season the meadow larks are very numerous. For several weeks large flocks have been gathering about the pasture, upon the slope, and in the low meadow land. I have often wondered where they come from when they appear so suddenly out of nowhere.

When I drive over our gravel road or climb the weedy slope I see them fly across my path and settle silently in some grassy nook. Each bird secludes itself beneath the deep green cover. Often I have stopped just at the edge of such a place of concealment. No sound, no motion—until at some inkling of danger the heavy whir of wings fans the air and every one is gone.

We heard a great commotion among the hens. It seemed to come from beneath the bushes above the spring . . . such cackling and frightened squawking as a hawk may occasion. Hurrying out, I lifted a mat of rose vines and peered underneath, but at that instant a great flock of migrating sparrow-like birds rose out of those same vines, and the two old hens that had made the squawking looked as amazed as I.

I listen for the voices of friendly birds each fall. Many of our spring birds sing again, for a week or two, at this season. I have not heard a meadow lark in song, yet this fall, but a wood peewee was trilling all around our place last Sunday morning.

The goldfinches perch upon the large bull thistles and scatter down like a small whirlwind. I see the seedless thistledown float off, higher than the trees.

Last week great flocks of robins flew from place to place devouring crickets and young grasshoppers. Sometimes 20 or more would alight upon our lawn and try to locate worms, that I knew were not there.

Along the highway, the numbers were so great that speeding cars struck many and left them dead or struggling wounded in the ditch. The children brought some to me, in great excitement, wondering what had happened.

This week there are no robins about the landscape.

OLDEST EMPLOYES—12TH IN A SERIES

Love of Tool Making Has Kept Bodi Busy at Westinghouse For 34 Years

By ALVIN PREYER

The "love of tool and die making" has played the major part in accounting for the 34 years that Nicholas Bodi has spent as the employe with the longest service at Mansfield's Westinghouse plant.

Born in Hungary in 1898, Bodi was brought to the United States by his parents in 1900.

"My ideas as to why my family came here are very vague," Bodi said, "but I remember being told that it was because of the opportunity offered in this great land.

"We settled in the Pittsburgh area, and it was there that I attended school and got my first job with Westinghouse in 1913. I started out as a tool-maker's apprentice and worked my way up until in 1917 I was assigned to the instrument laboratory where I repaired delicate instruments."

* * *

Helpful In Talkies.

One of Bodi's most interesting experiences was when he worked on the development of photo-tone. "Today we call it talking pictures," he explained.

In 1928, Westinghouse sent Bodi to Mansfield on an inspection trip.

"Believing in the adage 'Go west young man,' I decided to settle here and began work as an inspector," he said. "But my first love has always been tool and die making, so I soon gave up my inspector's job and went back to my bench where I have been ever since."

* * *

Violins His Hobby.

Bodi admitted to two hobbies —card playing and the repairing of violins.

"Oh, I used to play a little," he replied in answer to the query, "but my days with an orchestra are over. However, my son and daughter are both learning to play the violin and my wife plays the piano. So we have a little concert every once in a while."

The Bodi family lives in Lincoln Heights.

A member of the Owls of Mansfield, Bodi said that he was "a willing worker on any committee. But I'd rather play 'second fiddle' than head them."

Answering another inquiry, he said:

"The basis of sucecss, I believe, is a bulldog determination always to be equal to any situation and to love the work you do. Never mind the glamor. Working at a job you don't like for the sake of getting an extra nickel is not my idea of life."

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

Leo Slezak, the German tenor, was once singing "Lohengrin" at the Metropolitan when an inept stage-hand yanked the prop swan-boat offstage before he had a chance to enter it.

Slezak, possessed of a robust sense of humor, and ready for any emergency, abruptly stopped singing and called loudly into the wings, "When does the next swan-boat leave?"

Another time Slezak was singing in "The Walkure." The lady who was set to play the role of Sieglinde took sick at the last moment, and unbeknownst to Slezak, an understudy was rushed into the part. She came onstage behind him and warbled, "Ich bin Sieglinde" ("I am Sieglinde.") Slezak wheeled about in surprise, clicked his heels, bowed and said, "My name is Slezak."

The girl in the movie booth demurred at selling a ticket to a youngster in the early afternoon. "Why aren't you in school?" she asked sharply. "It's okay, lady," he assured her. "I've got the measles."

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, October 1.

THE ability to maintain composure, harmony, balance and amiability in the face of excitement, surprise and perhaps disruption and a sudden turn of events, may be the determining factor in switching possible adversity into happiness, concrete gains, desirable good will, personal popularity and prestige.

Business, labor and finances, as well as the home or love life, are at stake. Be firm in establishing such harmonious and pleasant relations.

Those whose birthday it is are in a position to create a profitable, pleasant and progressive state of affairs, affecting all the relations of life, by maintaining a clever, gracious, amiable and happy frame of mind in the face of a sudden and perhaps devastating turn of affairs, threatening a basic upset of plans and objectives of far-reaching significance.

Work, finances, position, as well as social, professional, domestic and romantic affiliations are in the balance, but may be happily and profitably adjusted by basing all operations on a platform of harmony and good will.

A child born on this day is blessed with creative abilities, and attractive personality, which it may use to great advantage in crises or peculiar reverses in life.

THE TRUTH ABOUT MEAT

On September 20 the Richland County Industrial Union Council-CIO and its affiliated locals published an advertisement in The Mansfield News-Journal purporting to answer the question of "Why No Meat?"

This advertisement charged that certain large meat packing companies, including Swift & Company, were responsible for the present shortage of meat.

"SIT-DOWN STRIKE"

The advertisement contained an accusation, made several times in the past, that large meat packing companies were conducting a "sit-down strike" by refusing to buy livestock.

The truth is that Swift & Company is buying and will continue to buy every head of cattle that it can in accordance with OPA regulations.

Last spring when the "strike" charges were first made, several meat packing companies challenged those who made the accusations to buy for the meat plants all the livestock they could at legal prices. These offers were never accepted.

A LIE REPEATED--

The CIO advertisement is a collection of misstatements, unadulterated lies and half-truths. It is vicious propaganda apparently based on the Communistic technique that A LIE REPEATED OFTEN ENOUGH WILL BE BELIEVED.

IN FACT, THIS ADVERTISEMENT IS SIMPLY A REPETITION OF AN ARTICLE WHICH APPEARED IN THE DAILY WORKER, A COMMUNIST PUBLICATION, OF SEPTEMBER 15, 1946.

WHAT ARE THE FACTS?

As explained recently by President Truman, large numbers of livestock were marketed during July and August when price controls were lifted temporarily. Many of the livestock which would now be coming to market were slaughtered then.

Since the beginning of this month when livestock ceilings again became effective, cattle and hog receipts in the nation's livestock markets have dropped to record low levels.

In addition to the fact that receipts are very light, we are able to purchase only a small number of the cattle coming to market because prices at which they are selling are above the prices we can legally pay in accordance with OPA regulations. Apparently the Black Market is again rampant and is gobbling up a large share of the small supply available.

We are ready and willing to buy cattle up to the limits of our capacity at prices within the law. But we will not violate the law.

Explosive Meat Situation Near Break

MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1946 TELEPHONE 4251-6 PAGE NINE

Winchell — On Broadway

THE SABBATH Topics-of-the-Times man followed in the typewriter ribbon of his gazette's editorialist and also chided newscasters and colyumists for giving people the heebie-jeebies by relaying pessimistic forecasts . . . However, a front-page story in the very same issue of his paper came up with another echo of the war-nings . . . To wit: "The nations of the world, led by statesmen imprisoned within a political framework that has remained unchanged despite the war, 'are now setting out on the same roads that led them to war,' the International Committee for the Study of European Questions declared today. The committee is composed of a group of persons prominent in politics, diplomacy, science, education and economy in Britain, Belgium, France, Denmark, Norway and the Netherlands."

The leaders of nations wag the tails of their good intentions, while their diplomats bark at each other. We don't know which end to believe . . . Several months ago, Stalin stated that war with the capitalistic nations was inevitable. Now he asserts that "no real peril for a new war exists" . . . Yet on the same day his man, Gromyko, popped off with a warning about the perils to peace. And Anthony Eden also warned that the present Big Three policies are leading to war . . . The only thing that's clear is that the leaders of nations are confused. If they would stop going around in circles, the world would stop going around with that pained expression.

This reporter repeatedly explained that the reason he hoists warnings (about the dangerous course of international affairs) is to alert the people and their leaders—so that they will do something to stop the drift toward global disaster . . . Well, our (and others') warnings forced Stalin to publicly announce he desires peace . . . Incidentally, two days before Stalin's statement we networked the opinion that we didn't think even Stalin wanted war . . . Peace, however, does not consist of saying that you want it—your agents must act peacefully. Hitler also proclaimed his desire for peace while shoving the world toward war . . . We hope Stalin's pipe of peace is not used as a smoke-screen.

* * *

Several finanical reporters just won the booby prize in the irresponsible reporting sweepstakes. (We lost it after only two weeks!) . . . About a fortnight ago many of them blamed this department for the stock market break . . . Since then, it was revealed that the SEC plans investigating the causes of the break. In other words, no one actually knows why the market fell apart—and that is the reason the SEC is probing it . . . Our critics merely jumped to confusions.

* * *

International politics goes round and round, and where it will come out nobody knows . . . INS contribbed another item for the diplomatic carousel by relaying the news that an official Moscow spokesman declared Russia is convinced Byrnes wants peace . . . Yet the official Sovvy organs, Pravda and Izvestia, have been blasting Byrnes and accusing him of trying to incite a war.

A foreign correspondent tells about his conversation with a Russian scientist who deplored those who discuss atomic energy only in terms of war—when that energy could accomplish miracles in peace. He summed up with this canny analogy: "To talk of atomic energy in terms of atomic bombs is like talking of electricity in terms of the electric chair."

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—In his letter with a time-fuse to President Truman, dated July 23 and published in mid-September, Henry Wallace proposed that "we try to learn why the United States distrusts Russia."

An honest man would not have had to put the question for the answer was made by Josef Stalin himself when he predicted, in a speech to American Communists, cited by Max Eastman, our own backslid bolo, a revolutionary crisis in the United States at a moment "not far off" which would be the beginning of the end of world capitalism, and conjured these American traitors to prepare to take advantage of the crisis.

Wallace maintains relations with the American Stalinists, no longer correctly to be described as Communists, comparable to those between Major Quisling, of Norway, and the Nazis. Henry's Stalinist friends are no more friendly to this country than Hitler was to Quisling's Norway.

Quisling believed in National Socialism at least to the extent that Wallace admires Stalinism. In fairness and honesty, those who admire Wallace should concede that Quisling deserved, not death and historic disgrace, but understanding. Failing to, they indict their own Henry.

* * *

The United States and the USSR established relations on the basis of an admission that Russia, up to that time, had interfered in the internal affairs of this nation. The Communist party here had operated that conspiracy.

* * *

If the testimony of former members of the party, including Benjamin Gitlow, who had been Earl Browder's predecessor as chief conspirator, were insufficient to prove the case, the formal admission of the Russian government that it was all true quiets the last doubt. That admission is found in the Russian government's solemn but worthless, pledge to stop it.

Nevertheless, in August, 1935, the state department had to protest to Russia "against the activities involving interference in the internal affairs of the United States, which took place in Russia in connection with the seventh all-world congress of the Communist International."

"In view of the plain language of the pledge," contained in the agreement of recognition, "it is not possible for the Soviet government to disclaim its obligation to prevent activities in its territory directed toward overthrowing the political or social order of the United States," Mr. Hull wrote. And, he pointed out, Russia couldn't disown responsibilty "for its authority within its territorial limits is supreme and its power to control the acts and utterances of organizations and individuals within those limits is absolute."

Never terminated but, at best, suspended, these treacheries were resumed during the Hitler-Stalin war in which Hitler divided Poland with Stalin and gave Russia the Baltic republics. The American Stalinists sabotaged the American industrial and armament program and if Mr. Wallace is unaware that they did he will find angry acknowledgement of the fact in the statement of F. D. Roosevelt, when Roosevelt sent the army to disperse insurrectionists at an airplane factory at Inglewood, Calif.

During the period of Russia's peril, however, after Hitler attacked Russia, the interference was suspended but only in the interests of Stalin's new empire. CIO unions, in which the Stalinist power is stronger than in those of the A. F. of L., even went to the point of scabbing strikes in war industries, for Russia's sake.

But when Hitler fell, a French Stalinist issued a statement amounting to a decree repudiating the temporary and expedient policy of cooperating with the capitalist economy of the United States and repudiating Browder who then was expelled in favor of William Z. Foster. So cynical and impudent were the world conspirators under Stalin's direction that they chose a traitor to France to issue orders to the American traitors who promptly obeyed. They now support Wallace.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Jim Moran announces from his Hollywood, Calif., headquarters that he is campaigning for a seat in the U. S. senate. The Jim Moran. Who sits on ostrich eggs until they hatch.

I am afraid he will win. He always does. This is a pity, I know. The senator is a friend of mine. I would live longer if he weren't.

Sen. Moran is running on the slogan: What this country needs is a good five cents. Period. Fellow citizens, when he begins making our laws, look out. Better yet, flee.

You may remember when the senator (secretly subsidized by the Icyfreeze Ice Box company) made his widely publicized trip to Alaska to sell a refrigerator to an Eskimo. This brought chuckles to a nation unsuspecting that his ambitions reached to the senate itself.

The senator returned to the mainland with a pedigreed Alaskan flea and 100 pounds of ice that he personally had chopped from the living heart of an Alaskan glacier. This ice, he said, was a billion years old, harder and colder than any other ice and guaranteed to give a highball an extra zing. He sold it to credulous bibblers for $1.25 a pound. The flea he stored in a cage at my house in Hollywood.

While I itched at the thought of it, the senator negotiated with the motion picture makers. Did any of them need a really fine flea?

Paramount Pictures, Inc., said, yes, if the price were right it could use a good flea. It needed one to pose on the back of Parisian street gamin, name of Claudette Colbert. The senator sold his flea to Paramount for $700. This, as it turned out, was a net loss to the stockholders; Miss Colbert said she loved her art, but without fleas.

Sen. Moran was unabashed. You have read how he spent two weeks in Washington seeking a needle in a haystack on Connecticut avenue; how he led to the hotel room in New York of Gillette Burgess (who wrote the poem about the purple cow) a pure-bred Holstein he had dyed purple.

* * *

These and other exploits have given the senator a national reputation. They also have made him a croesus. You think he does these things free? Haw-haw-haw. He's always got a sponsor.

* * *

The only time he did not was when he wrote a murder mystery in three acts and thirty scenes. He had 32 copies of it made, because there were 32 agents selling plays to producers on Broadway. How, he asked himself, was he to make sure they read it?

The senator had Yucca Salamunish, the celebrated sculptor, produce 32 plaster heads of a beautiful woman. Sen. Moran painted these in lifeliks colors, with plenty of blood around their freshly-severed necks. He placed his human heads in lavender hat boxes, tied with ribbons, and forwarded one to each of the 32 agents in New York.

Seven of them fainted. Three demanded police protection. Eight appealed to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The rest were scared, but quiet. They never did read Sen. Moran's drama but they will.

VETERANS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF INSURANCE PLAN

Scores in County Reinstate Their Policies Under New Arrangement.

Scores of Richland county veterans are taking advantage of new privileges provided by recent amendments to the National Service Life Insurance act, the Mansfield sub-regional office of the Veterans' Administration anounced today.

So far this month the local office has reinstated $308,500 in lapsed policies and has converted $178,000 of National Life insurance.

Lump sum payments, payable only if elected by the insured during his life, and payment in equal monthly installments are two popular new methods of settlement.

Three new endowment policies have been added to the three former plans of ordinary life, 20 and 30 payment life. The new policies call for 20-year endowment, or endowment at the age of 60 or 65.

Still another change allows veterans to add total disability riders to their insurance policies.

Beneficiary restrictions have been removed and the insured may now designate any person or persons, or other legal entity as beneficiary.

A final provisian procides that any person who was in active service between Oct. 8, 1940, and Sept. 2, 1945, may now apply for five-year level term insurance up to the maximum of $10,000. Prior to the amendment, discharged persons could not apply for insurance.

Insurance may now be reinstated no matter how long it has lapsed, by payment of two months' premium without interest, provided such payment is made before Feb. 1, 1947. No physical examination is required for reinstatement.

Veterans who desire to reinstate their insurance, or who desire any information concerning insurance are asked to go to the contact division, Veterans Administration, room 614 in the Walpark building. Those desiring assistance should bring with them their discharge or separation papers and, in the case of those holding insurance, their Form 360 (National Service Life Insurance certificate.)

HELD IN THEFT OF CLOTHING

Galion Man Jailed By Police For Questioning.

Police today were holding a Galion man for questioning in connection with the theft of a package of clothing from the Erie railroad freight depot early Sunday.

Officers were also investigating the theft of an estimated $130 in clothing taken from two cars.

Fred Dalton, 308 Wayne street, told police that two women's coats and a man's jacket, valued at $105, were stolen from his car early Sunday on South Main street.

Oscar Shambaugh, Loudonville, R. D. 1, said a suit coat, from a new suit valued at $50, was taken from his car early yesterday on East Sixth street.

RANSOM READY

Missionary Will Try to Buy U. S. Airmen From Lolos.

SHANGHAI—(U.P.)—Savage Lolo tribesmen near the Burmese border have enslaved five American airmen and the U. S. Army has given ransom money to a veteran missionary who will attempt to buy their freedom, it was disclosed officially today.

Col. C. G. Kearney, chief of the American graves registration section, said the tribesmen had indicated they would bargain for release of the fliers.

He said it was believed they would ask "so much a man" and that a Bishop Baudry, missionary veteran of the wild Lolo country, had been given funds to barter. The five airmen have been missing for two years.

Mead Elected To Scout Post

W. C. Mead, 57 Wolf avenue, was elected to the organization and extension committee of Regional Committee No. 4, Boy Scouts of America, at its 25th anniversary meeting held during the weekend in Cincinnati, Floyd Dent, Mansfield council executive said today.

Attending the meeting, which emphasized the need of bringing scouting to more boys and the problem of getting more leaders, were, in addition to Dent and Mead, C. I. Kimmel, Howard Stauffer, H. K. Day, R. Phipps, and M. D. Ward, all of Mansfield; M. Y. Snyder and A. A. Remy, of Crestline, and R. A. Godfrey of Galion.

Health Board Begins Work On County-Wide Plumbing Code

Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, said today that the county health board is mapping plans for the drafting of plumbing regulations for Richland county. Mansfield already has such regulations.

He said an inspection system would be set up and minimum requirements for plumbing work charted under the regulations.

The regulations are being mapped following a request made to the health board by two plumbers, Wade Stanfield and Chet Critchfield, who represent a county-wide plumbers group, Dr. Wild said.

Dr. Wild said he has been authorized by the health board to procure copies of regulations from other counties for study by the board in drafting controls for this county.

The health commissioner said the regulations are being mapped as part of a general plan to improve sanitation facilities in the county.

De Gaulle Pits Self Against New French Constitution.

PARIS —(INS)— Gen. Charles de Gaulle pitted himself today against the three major French parties by urging his countrymen to reject the nation's new draft constitution.

France's wartime leader in an address before 50,000 persons gathered about a war memorial in Epinal maintained that the model constitution fails to provide a guarantee of security against possible Russo-American conflict.

Epeaking twelve hours after the French assembly approved the constitution, De Gaulle stressed that in order to avoid "confusion which degrades and paralyzes" in times of emergency, the new constitution must provide for powerful, separate executive, legislative and judiciary bodies.

Richland county's third diphtheria case in less than a week was reported today by Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county heal commissioner, who said that a 26-year-old Lexington area woman has been stricken.

He said the disease has not reached epidemic stages in the county, but again warned parents to have children inoculated against it.

Drake says he has seen only one other in his life. He found this one on the side of his barn. He asked the News-Journal to turn it over to the biology department at Senior high school for study.

ANDERSON CAN HOLD OR KILL PRICE CEILING

Keeping Livestock Off New Short Supply List Would End OPA Controls.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — An imminent break in the politically explosive meat situation was predicted in Washington quarters today as the agriculture department prepared its monthly list of farm commodities in short supply.

Appearance of the list late today or early tomorrow will settle debate as to whether Secretary Anderson is going to try an immediate suspension of meat price controls or whether he is going to sit tight and await a formal appeal from the meat industry.

By leaving livestock off the new short supply list, which will be effective at 12:01 a. m. (EST) tomorrow, Anderson can suspend meat price controls immediately. Later, after a period of one or several months, he can again declare livestock in short supply and thereby automatically restore controls.

Thus with little formality and no delay, the secretary has the power to satisfy the growing agitation in and out of congress for a two-month, "see-how-it-works" suspension of controls.

Whether he'll do it is anybody's guess.

On one side are strong administration support for controls and a recent statement by Anderson himself, in which he said that the present set-up is the best in the long run.

On the other side are persistent rumors that suspension action is due early this week and more definite statements by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R) Mass., and others that a "very high authority" has promised such suspension.

By a process of elimination, Anderson emerges as the only person with decontrol power who is likely to use it.

It was pointed out by some observers that the fact that the short supply list mentions cattle, pigs and sheep rather than finished meat may give the secretary a loophole.

Should he decide that the amount of livestock fit for market is no longer in short supply, then removal from the list would be justified.

Mines Endanger West Coast Ships

PETER MAKES A MISTAKE

The things of seeming small account to much importance may amount.
—Old Mother Nature.

Lipperty, lipperty, lip ran Peter Rabbit. He was in a hurry. He was on his way to the Smiling Pool and he couldn't get there soon enough. Anyway that is how he felt about it. He could hear Grandfather Frog. "Chuga-rum! Chuga-rum! Chuga-rum!" chanted Grandfather Frog over and over.

"He certainly does love the sound of his own voice. I wonder what chuga-rum means anyway. It doesn't make sense to me except that it tells me where Grandfather Frog is. He's sitting on his favorite big, green, lily pad right now. I hope he will be there when I get to the Smiling Pool," thought Peter, and tried to run a little faster.

"Chuga-rum! Chuga-rum!" sounded that deep voice in Peter's long ears.

Why was Peter in such a hurry? Well, the day before Peter had met Cousin Egret, a member of the Heron family, on the shore of the Big river. He had come up from the Sunny South. He was vacationing, so he said. Peter remembered that he had heard Grandfather Frog say that he never had seen a Heron in white and he never expected to. He had said it as if he didn't believe there was a Heron who wore nothing but white. Now Peter wanted to be the first to tell him that there was, and to boast he had seen one with his very own eyes. He is like a lot of folks, loves to brag of having seen what others haven't seen. Queer, isn't it?

Grandfather Frog was on his big, green, lily pad when Peter reached the bank of the Smiling Pool. He had eyes for nothing and no one but the big old Frog in the green coat and white and yellow waistcoat.

Peter was a little breathless because he had hurried so. "There is a Heron who dresses all in white. I've see him!" he cried triumphantly.

Grandfather Frog rolled his big goggly eyes at Peter. "Chuga-rum!" said he in his deepest voice. "Do tell."

"Yes," said Peter. "He was over at the Big river. He has come up from way down in the Sunny South. He is vacationing."

"You don't say. Chuga-rum! You don't say," said Grandfather Frog.

"I do say," retorted Peter. "You should see him. You really should. It is too bad he doesn't visit the Smiling Pool. A white Heron is something to see. You've missed something, Grandfather Frog.

"Have I?" asked Grandfather Frog mildly.

"Yes," replied Peter. "You certainly have. That fellow is as white as snow. He really is."

"I don't know how white that is. I have sense enough to go to bed before snow comes and stay abed until after it has gone, which is a lot more sense than some folks have. But if snow is any whiter than that fellow over on the other side of the Smiling Pool it is white indeed. I hope he will stay over there and not come poking around here. However, they dress, all Herons are alike—a nuisance. White, blue or green they are all the same to me, a nuisance. I don't like them. I wish they would go away and stay away. Chuga-rum!" said Grandfather Frog.

Peter wasn't listening. He was staring across the Smiling Pool. There stood a white Heron. The Smiling Pool was perfectly smooth. The big white bird was reflected in the water so that Peter felt as if he were looking at two Herons.

Presently the fisherman came across to Peter's side and Grandfather Frog dived down into the mud of the bottom. "Nuisance!" was the last thing he said.

"I didn't expect to find you here," said Peter. "I hope you have had good fishing since I saw you yesterday."

"Did you see me yesterday? I didn't get here until this morning," replied the Heron.

"It wasn't here; it was over by the Big river. You told me you are Cousin Egret. Don't you remember?" said Peter.

"No, I don't. I wasn't at the Big river yesterday and I'm not Cousin Egret," was the surprising reply. Peter stared, blinked, and stared again.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.
